

Earlee R&D Team uncover exciting new application for our Earlee Control range

Earlee Products is a leader in food safety, innovation and research leading to positive outcomes for the food industry.

Recently in our head office test kitchen and R&D lab a new application for Earlee's anti-microbial solution has been shown to extend product shelf-life significantly.

“The result is an innovative, safe, clean and clear label solution that controls growth of foodborne pathogens in food products.”

Brett McMullen, Earlee Products General Manager

Through research and development, a new application for the Earlee Control range has been uncovered. Originally designed for the post cook handling of cooked meat, great results are also being achieved with Value Added raw meat.
